AS I SEE IT

by Charles W. Barner

Throughout the church today there is great emphasis on evangelism in order to bring people to know Jesus Christ as Savior. While stressing this first step of new birth, Christian Endeavor zeroes in on the next step of Christian adolescences and growth through its learn by doing program. As young people are nurtured in the Christian Endeavor society of the local church, they grow to Christian maturity through Bible study, prayer and expressing their faith in Jesus Christ. Here they also learn to accept responsibility to plan and lead which prepares them for life.

The International Society of Christian Endeavor is committed to helping local churches minister to their young people. Junior and/or Youth Resource Manuals are sent without charge to sponsors or pastors requesting them. From January 1978, through June 30, 1979, there were 500 new youth groups added to our mailing list.

The escalating costs of paper, productical and postage will soon make it impossible to continue this project unless more individuals and youth groups get behind with their financial gifts. We have spend $12,500 to distribute Resource Manuals and $23,000 to provide Resource Packets this year. We are asking the churches amyouth groups receiving these program materials to help underwrite the cost of this expanding ministry. Do your part by sending your tax deductible gift to the International Society of Christian Endeavor, P.O. Box 1110, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

It was a great convention, held completely in God's beautiful out-of-doors, with no rain during any of the sessions. It involved delegates from 25 states and 8 different nations. It demonstrated all kinds of activities by which Christians might strengthen their testimony and win others to Christ. It acknowledged that only through "Jesus Christ, Our Hope" was our future possible.

Now those of you who attended, prayed, worked, and gave have come down from the mountain top. There is much work to be done. Only believing, hoping, and trusting in Christ will make your service for Him successful.

Can HE count on YOU?

Mrs. Evelyn Lockman of Bridgeton, New Jersey, was probably the oldest full-time delegate in Honolulu. She said, "Tve been in Christian Endeavor since I was 8 years old, and that was 78 years ago." What's your batting average?

Not every couple has the entire International Christian Endeavor Convention for company on a honeymoon . . Two couples, Walter and Judy Sanders Logue of Texas, as well as Harry and Low Ann Brenneman of Pennsylvania, traveled to Hawaii with more than a thousand other C.E.ers. GET INVOLVED — NOW!

(An interview with Josh McDowell by Clair E. Beatty)

When Josh McDowell, who received the International Youth's Distinguished Service Citation for 1979, was asked for a special message to Christian Endeavorers, he answered with these thoughts: "Do more of what you are doing for Christ, but do it faster. We must do all we can right now, for we probably have little time. Many changes are ahead for all of us. We live in a world that is ready to explode.

Our world is crying out for people, who have a personal commitment to Jesus Christ, to stand up and be counted. It is time for us to get involved in a world that desperately needs Christ's love."

Then he added, "What a day to be alive!"
What Josh McDowell said would emphasize the importance of our convention theme: "Jesus Christ, Our Hope."

INTERNATIONAL YOUTH'S DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CITATION to

JOSH McDOWELL

The International Society of Christian Endeavor, at its Fifty-fifth Convention, confers this Eighteenth International Youth's Distinguished Service Citation, its highest award, upon Josh McDowell.

Exemplifying the evangelistic thrust of Christian Endeavor and using filming, writing and speaking as major means of communication, Josh McDowell has proclaimed the saving power of Christ to millions, choosing as his prime target that sometimes sceptical, but ever questing, segment of youth enrolled in our institutions of higher learning.

Within a decade, as a speaking emissary of Christ, he verbally pressed the claims of Christ in fifty-three countries to more than five million students in five hundred and fifty colleges and universities.

With facile pen, he has produced articles and best sellers that supplied a modern and scientific apologetic to all searching minds but especially to those youthful seekers of eternal Biblical truths.

Utilizing a series of motion pictures, Josh McDowell presented a penetrating, verdict-compelling challenge to all, especially youth, to dedicate their total lives to Christ as Lord and Savior.

WORLD'S UNION NEWS

The Board of Trustees of the World's Christian Endeavor Union is holding its annual meeting in Kassel, Germany at the German Christian Endeavor Union Headquarters from September 1-4, 1979.

Following the meetings a rare opportunity will be offered to World Union leaders to visit with Christian youth and their leaders in the German Democratic Republic. Woltersdorf, Berlin, Wittenberg, Halle, Dresden, and Herrnhut will be some of the areas visited. The arrangements are being made by Konrad Brandt of Germany who says, "I hope and pray our tour to the G.D.R. will be a wonderful experience for all."

Dave's On Board

On August 1, 1979, the Rev. David G. Jackson became the executive secretary of the International Society of Christian Endeavor. Dave and the movement have been associated for a long time.

Dr. Earle W. Gates, former President of the International Society, was Dave's pastor at the First Church of Evans, Derby, N.Y. There Dave began as a Junior Christian Endeavorer, progressing through church and state offices to trustee and member of the Educational Committee of the International Society.

Dave comes to Columbus from Huntington, Indiana, where he was the administrative assistant and general treasurer of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ.

He says, "Christian Endeavorer has opened many doors and provided numerous challenges. It has been vital to the deepening and strengthening of my personal commitment to Jesus Christ, the opening of many areas of service to Him, and providing innumerable Christian friendships. My prayer and desire is to continue serving Christ, His Church and His Christian Endeavorers, trusting in the Lord for strength."

STATE OF THE STATE

(Exciting things are happening in Christian Endeavor around this great country of ours about which many of us do not know. Why? Because we weren't there and no one told us. To expand your horizons, we'd like to share with you and have you share with us what's happening in your state. Please send articles and pictures to Frances Becker, 5425 Vicaris & Street, Phila., Pa. 19128.)

It's Happening in West Virginia

Oreon Fields

Let's begin by asking the question, "What is the state of the State of West Virginia Christian Endeavor?" I would then have to reply, "In reference to what—to our neighboring states, or to our activities in the past ten years, to our goals, our programs, our leaders?"

As you can see, it is very difficult to answer such a broad question. But I'll try to report on what has transpired in the last ten years in the Mountain State. It has been during this time that I have been active in the work as vice-president, president, and, currently, editor of the "West Virginia Endeavorer."

I believe sincerely that our movement in this state is progressing at a rate that would be complementary to the growth of any organization or any congregation. We are not gaining societies by leaps and bounds, but we have added several over the past year. We are not making our evening convention rallies "standing room only," but we are gradually increasing in number each year. We are not making drastic changes in our program methods, but we are striving to improve our activities with strong emphasis on the convention Bible Bowl, speakers and leaders who relate to youth, and leadership training methods. We are not bringing in lots of money to work with, but our budget has increased steadily each year, with the exception of some cuts this year. This, of course, is a problem with all organizations, the problems of inflation and expanding programs. We must tighten our belts, and this was the year we chose to do that in West Virginia.

Rev. Dhas from India with Bill Kindelberger

We are proud of many things. We have a four-day convention in June and a two-day retreat in the fall. Outstanding Christian Endeavor leadership coming into our state makes these conventions and retreats memorable and inspiring. Ideally situated geographically, we can draw on leadership from Pennsylvania, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan. Every International Society of Christian Endeavor president has come to West Virginia since Dr. Meadows' presidency. The current president and youth president have been here twice. We are fortunate that I.S.C.E. headquarters is only three hours away. Charles Barner has given us much of his valuable time. On several occasions, we were pleased to have been visited by C.E. personalities from other parts of the world.

Leadership must be considered in letermining one's state of being. We have an outstanding president, Harold Myers, pastor of the First Church of the United Brethren in Christ of Clarksburg, He is beginning his fourth term and is now in the process of preparing the vice-president to succeed him. Pastor Myers is vitally involved in evangelism, and this has had an overflow effect on C.E. in the Clarksburg area where we now have four churches featuring C.E. societies. Another of Harold's contributions has been the writing of job descriptions for each position held on the Executive Committee. The effects have been slow in coming, but we are progressing. He is continually urging participants into the I.S.C.E. Youth Witness Program, and is the author of our bwn state-wide youth witness contest. We are also happy to say that he has been an active participant in the I.S.C.E. Trustees meeting every year of his presidency.

The "West Virginia Endeavorer" continues to keep our people informed. We now have two feature writers, Harold Myers creates the "Captain's Corner," and Barbara Cover produces "Junior Gems." Barbara is our Junior superintendent from Wheeling. Our edition is published four times annually—March, June, September, and December and has a current circulation of 325.

Following are some of our future goals:

 to gain churches and societies that would expand and connect those we now have.

(2) to have a winter activity complementing our summer and fall programs. (3) to enlarge the publication of the "West Virginia Endeavorer" to six issues annually and, also, to increase the circulation.

(4) to train our leadership in C.E. essentials according to the "Oregon

Plan of Degrees"

(5) to promote our endeavor in such a way that Christ and His Church may be glorified.

To the convention he presented four keys to revolutionary involvement for Christ that can make a difference:

 We must see as Christ saw—through the facade, to see the real needs of persons.

We must feel as Christ felt—not merely with pity, but with compassion, to "suffer with."

3. We must pray as Christ prayed—becoming involved in things for which we pray.

4. We must do as Christ did—be involved in the issues of our day.

Josh McDowell not only speaks of our need for involvement and action, he does something about it. For 14 years he has spent 26 days a month for Campus Crusade, visiting 570 universities in 58 countries. He has been featured in four movies, two TV specials, and has written four best sellers.

Mr. McDowell is a Michigan farm boy who attended Kellogg and Wheaton Colleges. His wife Dottie, daughter Kelly, and son Sean travel with him much of the time.

I come from Guatemala, Central America, and I give thanks to my Lord for the joy of staying here in this beautiful place. It has been for me a great experience here on Oahu, the place where the convention is realized.

When I was in Reading, Pa., in 1977, I asked my Lord to permit me to come to this convention, and He answered. Endeavorers of Guatemala send greetings to Christian Endeavorers in this convention and in the world. We ask for your prayers and hope you will visit us in

6 A.M. Sunrise Drama

From Texas

As two students of Dan Neidermyer's Exploration Group, we discovered the many processes of Christian drama and the media. In our sessions, we encountered the experience of seeing a production "in the making." Within fewer than five minutes, Dan selected his characters from the members of the group, discussed the plot of the Bible story, taught the parts, and we performed, unrehearsed. We were taught to use modern-day drama to interpret the Scriptures and to capture the attention of our audience. It was a most exciting experience as students, performers, or observers.

Michele Jackson and Jackie Pace

From North Carolina

We were no longer in Hawaii! Our hearts and minds had been transported back to the days of the Roman Empire, when Jesus walked on earth. The drama of the Bible presented by Dan Niedermyer had brought us closer to the ministry of Jesus.

Having a part in one of the dramas was one of my greatest experiences in Hawaii. I played Bartimeus, a blind beggar, healed by Jesus. As the young man who impersonated Jesus touched me, I thought of how our Lord opened my spiritual eyes and showed me that I had only to ask for His guidance to receive it. This is the true message that we all, as sinners, must experience.

Mickey Murray

From Tennessee

As Christian Endeavorers reflect on the 55th International Convention, no doubt the presentations developed by Dan Neidermyer will come to mind as part of the program making the Hawaiian Convention an outstanding tool in the Lord's program.

To read the scriptures and understand their meaning is a tremendous experience, but to see, feel, and live the truths recorded in God's Word is indeed a highlight that increases one's awareness and sensitivity to His perfect will for each of our lives.

Lynn McKnight

From Scotland

To have met under God's blue sky, beside tall, waving palms in Hawaii for a Christian Endeavor Convention has been a unique and lovely experience.

Listening to God's word in group Bible studies, participating in the fun sessions, exploring various avenues of service, renewing friendships and making new ones has been both stimulating and enriching. But, never-to-be-forgotten will be the Sunrise Communion Service on the beach that came alive when we saw the Last Supper re-enacted.

Coming from the British Isles, we were very privileged to share in your convention and hope, the Lord willing, to see many of you again in Portland, Maine. ALOHA!

Betty Murdoch

From Truk, Caroline Islands

The rich and warm fellowship which I experienced at the Christian Endeavor Convention in Honolulu, Hawaii opened the doors of opportunity for my friends and me from Truk to share and exchange thoughts with a variety of people from different backgrounds and nationalities.

The resource persons leading the various group discussions, the speakers, and other participants were outstanding. The spirit of Christianity was alive in the entire convention.

I would like to say thank you for being part of the Christian Endeavor Convention. There is so much that I can now share with my people back home.

May the spirit of love in the convention continue until, someday, another convention may be held in Truk.

Aichy Sos

From India

In my opinion, the 55th International Convention of Christian Endeavor was one of the best conventions I have ever attended. The program was well balanced and the contrast added a thrilling experience to many. I think there is a great opportunity in play acting and our young people in India also enjoy participating in such dramatization.

The meetings progressed so smoothly that at no time were the delegates bored. Throughout the convention I could feel the presence of our Lord, and I'm sure that those who attended will return home richly blessed by His grace.

The class at the International Convention that we most enjoyed was Creative Teaching, and came away excited at the prospects of experimenting with some of these new ideas shared with us by Captain Barbara Van Brunt. What most intrigued us was the realization that anyone, regardless of artistic talent, can be creative.

We are sorry that everyone could not join this class, but we are thankful that we did. Our prayer is that God will work through us as we put these ideas into practice.

Linda Pulsifer and Jill Vaughn

From Germany

The 1979 Christian Endeavor Convention in Hawaii represented a trip almost half-way around the world for the 18 German delegates in attendance.

There were many differences between Hawaii and a German convention. To begin with, the outdoor Waikiki Shell site under a clear blue sky would be unthinkable, considering German weather conditions. We also enjoyed the daily schedule of convention program and free time. German conferences usually last from Friday evening until Sunday, and our program, therefore, is closely scheduled.

The musical groups were particularly outstanding, notably the Samoan and Chinese children's choirs. They all featured great variety and quality.

In spite of differences and some language barriers, the friendliness and graciousness of our American C.E. brothers and sisters made it easy to have Christian fellowship.

We came from the "Friendly Island," Molokai. It is the 5th largest island in the Hawaiian island chain.

The 55th International Christian Endeavorer Convention has been an inspiration to our Intermediate Group. We worked hard to make the money to attend the convention and depended on God to help us.

All of us enjoyed making friends with those we met, and exchanged buttons and leis.

Please pray for our group and our leaders that we may be what God wants us to be, grow in the Word and share what He has done and can do in our lives. We say aloha, and God bless you all.

HOPE FINFROCK NORRIS

Mrs. Fred Norris has become a "legend" in Texas Christian Endeavor. After living 25 years in Washington, D.C., the Norrises "retired" to Austin, Texas, where Hope had previously been Texas Christian Endeavor Life Work Recruit Superintendent.

Their retirement took Hope and Fred to the mission field in Santo Domingo for several years, and then back to Texas where their service was outstanding for its encouragement of Christian young people. Eight of them became their children, either by official adoption, or just becoming part of the Norris "clan."

Hope Norris was active for many years in Christian Endeavor on a local, state, national, and international level. She has served well on the International Society of Christian Endeavor Executive Committee, Finance Committee, and Board of

In 1974, she authored a book of devotional readings entitled "Trusting . . . I Promise."

Hope's leadership and counsel cover several generations; rare, indeed, is the person who has done so many different things in life, has influenced so many lives, who has known intimately so many decades of Christian leaders, and who is still sought out in her eighties by young people who know her as a genuine friend and wise advisor.

MERRITT L. SMITH

When anyone mentions the "Extension" and Perpetuation Fund of the International Society of Christian Endeavor," one automatically thinks of Merritt Smith, who has served faithfully as its secretary from 1946 to the present.

Since 1912, when, at the age of nine, Merritt joined the Junior Christian Endeavor Society at the Sherwood Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C.I he has been consistently active in Christian Endeavor—president of the District of Columbia Christian Endeavor Union from 1926-1928, local chairman of the 12th World's Christian Endeavor Convention in Washington, D.C. in 1954 and member of the Executive and Finance Committees of the International Society from 1946-1972. In 1971, he was elected at Life Trustee of I.S.C.E.

In the business area, Merritt has always been in the "transportation" field.
Beginning as a clerk in 1921 with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, he was subsequently employed by the American Automobile Association from which he retired in 1968 as one of the national officers after 40 years of service. During this time he earned his degree at the National University Law School.

Merritt pays tribute to his three wives—Thelma Pitsenger, Helen Doyle, and presently Mae Le Count. He says, came to know each of them through Christian Endeavor. The Lord let me have three wonderful girls at just the times immy life when I needed them." Even with a Merritt's present Parkinson problem, here says, "There are always some good things for which to be thankful."

BITS AND PIECES

We're delighted to hear that
Pennsylvania has appointed a Centennial
Committee under the leadership of Herb Davies to develop plans and activities for not only the 100th Anniversary of Christian Endeavor in 1981, but to generate programs for C.E.'s second century as well. After three meetings, the committee has organized its activities around four areas: media, literature, programs, and finances.

Because of the guidelines under which commerative stamps are issued, it appears to be to Christian Endeavor's advantage to request a stamp featuring Dr. Francis E. Clark for the Centennial of Christian Endeavor.

Bernie Smith, our super convention song leader from Canada, said, "I came to Hawaii with my family before the meetings began, to get a head start on that famous Hawaiian tan—and it worked."

Pennsylvania took first prize for the largest state delegation at the convention with over 300 in attendance. Germany won the national laurels with 20 on hand. Sehr gut!

We regret to report that Mrs. Albert T. Ferntheil of Cincinnati, Ohio, editor of JUNIOR CE MEETINGS from 1968-1974, was aboard the ill-fated American Airlines flight #191 which crashed in Chicago in June. We extend our sympathy to her family and friends.

Thank You, Tim

Thank You From Tim

Tim Kribs... what a great job you did as president of International Christian Endeavor. Your leadership will be remembered for all time. Whenever there was a meeting of the Executive Committee or the Convention Program Committee, etc., you were there. Thanks for your faithfulness. Thank you for the direction you gave in the annual meetings of the Board of Trustees. You were firm when there were different opinions and you kept things moving. We always appreciated your sense of humor.

We want to thank you for your willingness to travel across the country and even across the ocean as our leader. It didn't matter to you if you were speaking to a small youth group or to a large convention. It may have been in American Samoa or Canada or Derby, New York, but, wherever you went, you were an excellent representative of Christ and Christian Endeavor. You always left a good impression. In your travels, you promoted the Christian Endeavor Pledge, the Quiet Hour, and the Tenth Legion. Thank you for doing this.

Thank you, Tim, for having a good Christian Endeavor wife who was willing to share you with young people everywhere. Thank you for having a church that recognized the importance of Christian Endeavor and shared your time and talents.

These past four years, under your leadership, give promise for a great future for the International Society of Christian Endeavor. Thank you, Tim!

Lavern Billig

Thank you for the privilege of serving are your president from the great Portland '75 Convention through the great Pennsylvania '77 Convention and to the amagnificent Hawaii '79 Convention. It has been a great joy to me to be of service through the International Society of Christian Endeavor for Christ and the Church.

During the four years I served as your president, I had the opportunity of visiting Christian Endeavorers in seventeen states. I have become more convinced that Christian Endeavorers are the most beautiful, loving, and hospitable Christians in the world.

The goal of my presidency was to strengthen Christian Endeavor and to establish more unions. This could only happen if we kept our priorities straight. The purposes and principles of Christian Endeavor must ever be our guides. I rejoice in the strength and unity of our active Christian Endeavor Unions and in the renewed denominational contacts which have been made. My only regret in that we are not growing faster.

May I thank each of you who has been faithful to Christ through Christian Endeavor. This includes those who work with young people, leading them closer to the Master and training them for service in His Church. It also includes all who have faithfully remembered Christian Endeavor in their prayers and financial support. God will bless your fidelity.

May we all be found faithful to Christ as revealed in His Word

President, Lavern Billig

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Lavern Billig "Jesus Christ, Our Hope"

Greetings! What a thrilling and inspiring convention we have just experienced in Honolulu. To see the hundreds of young people with their leaders in Bible Study and Exploration Groups in every part of the Waikiki Shell was a sight never to be forgotten. To watch the delegates laugh and enjoy themselves at Town Hall proved once again that Christians really can have fun together. The evening meetings with the Hawaiian choirs and the superb speakers were exciting and inspiring. All week long we were challenged with the theme "Jesus Christ, Our Hope." We left the convention with those words ringing in our ears.

Although the convention is over, the memories of it will remain forever. As we look forward now to new Christian Endeavor youth groups being formed in the months ahead, to new members and new meeting plans in those groups already functioning, to new and more helpful program material, we do so with hope—not the kind of hope that is wishful thinking, but the hope that is in Christ. As we look ahead, I would like to challenge every Christian Endeavorer across North America to do something positive about Christian Endeavor in your area. If there is a church without a youth group, why not make contact with it? If there is a youth group that asks for help with its programming, why not be the one to offer assistance? Be willing to give vourself.

We look forward to great things happening in Christian Endeavor. You and I can make them happen. We can do this because Jesus Christ is our Hope.

My best regards to each of you.
